

BERNSTORFF LABORS TO AVERT U. S. BREAK WITH KAISER

The Chancellor at once had an order issued to the newspapers in Berlin and the provinces to be guarded in their comments. It is stated that what little German comment has been published is of a violent nature and is directed especially against President Wilson and his Cabinet.

The full text of the note will be published in Berlin today, it is expected. Pending the publication, the majority of German papers maintain silence.

FEAR U-BOAT ATTACKS

A general feeling of bitterness, according to the dispatches, prevails against the United States throughout Germany.

Some high officials at Washington express a fear that U-boat attacks, in defiance of the American ultimatum, will be made before a reply is received from Berlin. This, they say, would result in an immediate breach.

There is, on the contrary, a more general feeling here today that an actual breach will be avoided. Germany is expected by many to yield essential points to the United States.

Ambassador von Bernstorff, in the meantime, is keeping the limited means of communication between Washington and Berlin busy. He is said to be seeking to have Germany make reply as soon as possible. It is being suggested that a reply may be given in a few days.

Von Bernstorff is said to be making every effort to avert a break.

U. S. WILLING TO NEGOTIATE FOR PEACEFUL END OF CONTROVERSY

By International News Service.
Washington, April 21.—While the threat of a break in relations with Germany still remains, the situation was made to appear less menacing by official explanations.

The State Department made it plain that no new demands had been made upon Germany. What has been done is to remove the former demands in a firm approach to an ultimatum.

At the same time it was officially broadened out that the United States is ready and willing to negotiate with Germany on peaceful settlement of the controversy.

Explanations were given by the highest State Department authority today (representing all the departments).

1.—That the United States demands of Germany only that she should and must accept the ultimatum of the American people. There is no demand that she shall abandon her submarine warfare policy.

2.—That the United States is satisfied if Germany puts into effect the ultimatum of the American people. It is not necessary that she should accept the ultimatum of the American people.

3.—That the United States is satisfied if Germany puts into effect the ultimatum of the American people. It is not necessary that she should accept the ultimatum of the American people.

4.—That the United States is satisfied if Germany puts into effect the ultimatum of the American people. It is not necessary that she should accept the ultimatum of the American people.

New York, April 21.—Henry Reuss, master artist and naval expert, made a sharp attack on the Wilson Administration at a meeting of the National Special Aid Society. More a hundred persons, most of them army officers, applauded his remarks.

He said:

These are serious times. Since the latest Wilson note I have felt more serious. This is the greatest crisis in our country's history.

It is as sensible for President Wilson to send the sort of note he did, as for me to write a check for a million dollars.

I couldn't make good. Neither can he.

We have made a threat but we have not kept it. Germany knows this. In the Japanese case, the Japanese knew that we had a cause for war and still has it.

Onley Supports Wilson's Stand

Richard Onley, Secretary of State in President Cleveland's Cabinet, says of President Wilson's note to Germany:

The President's latest communication to Berlin on submarine warfare, as Germany has declared it, is the fitting and necessary culmination of Germany's deliberate disregard of a long series of remonstrances against flagrant violation of the principles of international law and of appeals for reasonably humane treatment of neutral and non-combatants.

The President could not have done less and saved the self-respect of the nation; he could not have done more to provide peace with honor.

War with Germany now or soon would have been the inevitable sequence of an apparent acquiescence in the fruitlessness of her present undersea warfare.

ACCIDENT AT PARAL ALL THAT SAVED U. S. MEN FROM MASSACRE

By DAMON RUNYON.
Staff Correspondent of the International News Service.
IN THE FIELD WITH FERRIS, APRIL 16, the accident at Columbus, N. M., April 16, was not first by an innocent Mexican soldier, but the wrong time for the Americans, but the right time for the Mexicans, and he believed to have saved Major Tompkins' detachment of the Tenth Cavalry from annihilation in the fight at Paral on April 12.

From the hills around the town, over which floated the green flag of Mexico, came a whistling sound, but as the American horsemen were being under apparently friendly circumstances into what may have been a deliberately laid trap. Once in the place which was a town surrounded by hills, it is doubtful if a man could have escaped alive.

The hills seemed to have been thick with riflemen. After that first shot they fired in a desultory manner upon the Americans, who spread out in this rearward and replied with a deadly accuracy, but there is a growing opinion that the episode could have come from some fellow who was unable to control his desire to "get out of the gringos" any longer, and that the original plan was to let the Americans walk into the hill country.

ONLY LIVES TO RANSOM SAVED.
They said it is characteristic of many Mexican soldiers that, when they get a gun in their hand, they want to shoot something immediately, that they cannot hold their fire, but to the effect of that characteristic, Tompkins and his men still ride on the fading trail of Paral.

Two American cavalrymen are alone under the old Mexican flag, a result of the attack. They fell almost at the first fire, and the others were lifted from the ground by the comrades, along after the saddle and taken to a quiet little valley for the night. There they were guarded with military honors, at least such military honors as could be accorded under the circumstances.

Major Tompkins himself was wounded in the leg, but not seriously. The reports given by the authorities are somewhat contradictory, but a number of Mexican soldiers, including a couple of officers, were killed by the Mexicans.

CARNIVALS IN ATTACK.
It would appear from the details of the affair that the attack was planned that it practically amounted to a military raid of the Mexican government of Paral, following an assault upon the town by a street car.

At least some of the Mexican troops were certainly involved in the attack, and their officers could not control them.

On the night of April 10 Tompkins and his men were in the town of Paral, following an assault upon the town by a street car.

The nation's Chief Executive is about here throwing out the first ball at the opening game between the Senators and New York Yankees in Washington yesterday. The President appeared in jovial mood, even though he is greatly depressed by the existing state of affairs with Germany. Mrs. Woodrow Wilson is seated at his right. Members of the Senate and House attended the game. Majority leader Kitchen of the House said "a gentlemen's agreement" had been reached that no important business would be transacted during the afternoon.

Asks That U. S. Demand British Free American 13 Committee Men Absent at Drug Hearing

By International News Service.
Washington, April 21.—A demand that the United States take action to force Great Britain to release Samuel Schwartz, a naturalized American citizen, from a British concentration camp was made today by Representative Charles C. Tamm of New York.

The latter introduced in the House a resolution asking the President for information as to why the United States has not been accomplished. He stated that while the State Department admitted the holding of the Schwartz case, it had not been able to secure his release. He said that the Schwartz case has been a long one, and that the United States has not been able to secure his release.

House leaders, fearful that the Bennett resolution would precipitate another clash between the President and Congress similar to that over the McLeary resolution, forced a reference of the resolution to the Foreign Affairs Committee, after Bennett had notified them he intended to press for speedy action.

A BOSTON EXPERIENCE WITH THE FIGHTING ARMIES IN FRANCE THIS THRILLING WOMAN'S STORY OF THE WAR WILL BE PUBLISHED IN NEXT SUNDAY'S BOSTON AMERICAN

GRAND DUKE PUSHES CAMPAIGN FOR CONQUEST OF ASIA MINOR

London, April 21.—Following the fall of Erzerum and Trebizond, the Russian Grand Duke is today rapidly finishing his campaign for the conquest of Asia Minor.

No longer halted by Turkish pressure on the coast, the Russian armies west of Erzerum have begun a swift advance on Halibut and Erzerum. With three groups of Russian armies from the Black Sea coast to the its in close co-operation, the westward campaign through Asia Minor is expected to develop rapidly.

CAMPAIGN DEVELOPS

The fall of Trebizond has given rise to fresh rumors that Turkey is approaching agreement with peace overtures, but it is authoritatively stated in official circles that no such proposals will be considered by the Russian government.

Expressing a conviction that Turkey is a defeated nation and not in a position to make any terms, the Petrograd Gazette declares:

We may now consider one of our enemies finished. The taking of Trebizond has so disorganized the Turkish defensive plans that all that remains for her is to lay down her arms and ask mercy. She already has sought ways to a separate peace, but has met with the absolute refusal of her opponent, who is determined to close no separate agreements. Turkey's hour has struck, and it is not improbable that she will in the near future entirely disappear from the map.

6-INCH GUNS TAKEN

The official communication from Russian headquarters reads: Heavy artillery cannonaded the Russian bridgehead. There has been an artillery duel south of Lake Basmaly.

Cautious front—Along the coast in the pursuit of the enemy, who retreated rapidly, our reconnoitering party under Sub-Lieutenant Kovachoff captured seven Turkish officers and 190 men, being taken to a regiment recently arrived in the Trebizond region from Constantinople under command of a German officer.

At Trebizond we captured some 6-inch guns. The Jews did not suffer from the war operations. The Turkish position had not been changed. The enemy left several hundred killed on the battlefield. We made many prisoners.

PAYS $600,000 FOR MORGAN TAPESTRY

New York, April 21.—Joseph Widener of Philadelphia has purchased for $600,000 the famous Mazarin tapestry, collected by the late J. Pierpont Morgan, and which his son, J. P. Morgan, recently sold to the firm of P. W. French & Co. of this city. By agreement made with Morgan the tapestry, which the house bought for approximately $2,000,000, cannot be removed from the Metropolitan Museum of Art, where they are on loan, until after June 1.

The subject of this notable work is "The Triumph of Christ and New Dispensation."

WILSON CLUB OF ROXBURY TO DANCE

The Wilson Club of Roxbury will hold its second reception and ball in Hibernian and O'Connell Halls, Tuesday evening. Mayor and Mrs. Curley will lead the grand march followed by president and Mrs. James T. Kenney. A reception will be tendered visiting officials by Mayor Curley in O'Connell Hall from 9 to 10 p. m.

200 KILLED IN BERLIN RIOTS

Paris, April 21.—The Journal des Debats prints a Touring News Agency dispatch, received by way of Basel, Switzerland, alleging that a violent outbreak occurred before the Reichstag buildings at Berlin during Dr. Karl Liebknecht's recent interpellation. It asserts that an enormous crowd had to be held back by troops, who finally fired upon the people, killing more than 200 persons.

SAYS KAISER WILL SEEK FOREIGN LOAN

London, April 21.—Clinging stupendous figures to show that Germany is in desperate financial straits, Edmund Crummond, well-known British statistician, declared here that the Kaiser will seek a gigantic foreign loan at the conclusion of peace. This means, in effect, that Germany will repudiate her internal war debt, Germany's expenditures to date amount to about $2,500,000,000, while her estimated national wealth in 1913 was about $75,000,000,000.

KAISER HALTED TURK MASSACRES

New York, April 21.—The Rev. Charles C. Briggs, editor of the Orient, published at Constantinople by the American Board of Foreign Missions, who recently returned to America after spending seven years in Turkey, declared in a statement issued here that the Armenian massacres were checked through the efforts of German and Austrian diplomatic representation.

AGED WOMAN DIES OF BURNS

Dexter, N. H., April 21.—While Mrs. Evelyn R. Storer was tending a brush fire in her back yard, her dress caught fire and she was so badly burned she died later in the Dexter Hospital. She was eighty-two years old and lived at No. 25 Union street.

Nemo NEWS

Devoted to the HEALTH, COMFORT AND BEAUTY OF WOMEN

HOW HEALTH MAKES STYLE

The semi-elastic Nemo Wonderlift Bandlet (in all "Self-Help" Wonderlift Corsets) is fully adjustable to exactly fit the form. The corset is held firmly in its proper place—it can't ride up, twist, bulge or wrinkle. Your gowns fit smoothly.

The Bandlet remoulds the figure; lifts prolapsed organs and muscles into normal position; restores the natural compactness of the abdomen and thus makes it actually smaller.

(NOTE: No. 557, for very slim women, with concave abdomen, rounds out the figure and does away with sharp hip bones.)

Thus the priceless hygienic features of the Wonderlift Corset contribute largely to its superb style. The demands of both Health and Fashion are completely co-ordinated. This is true of no other corset.

No. 555

This being the case, we feel warranted in repeating our PREDICTION that in due time nearly every woman who wears a corset will wear a "Self-Help" Wonderlift.

Wonderlift Corsets Nos. 554 and 555 are for full figures, from short to tall. No. 556 is for slender to medium figures of average height. All at $5.00.

Two Extreme Models

No. 998—For very large women, much excess flesh all over; heavy, banding abdomen. Strong corset, heavily boned. Size 30 to 44 only—$10.

No. 557—For very slim women, sharp hip bones, concave abdomen. The only supporting corset ever made for this type. Sizes 19 to 26 only—$5.00.

Though $5.00 is their price, $5.00 in no wise indicates their real value, beauty and becomingness. Because the hats embody almost every style-feature of higher priced millinery. Here are the extreme salients; the quaint Watteau models, the tricornes and turbans, and a host of Sports hats.

—Milanese, legions, livers, wendies and other popular straw and brim. See how prettily they are trimmed with sticks, birds, flowers, ribbons, gauze facies or metallic ornaments.

Not a color, shape, trimming or style—$5.00 idea has been forgotten. Choice.

WAR SUMMARY

While the diplomatic world was marking time, awaiting Germany's answer to President Wilson's submarine ultimatum, Russia suddenly caused a general thrill by landing troops at Marseilles, the big French port on the Mediterranean. The Russian reinforcements were welcomed with all the vivacity that a man hard-pressed in a first fight would show if some friend from around the corner suddenly came up and slipped a club in his hand. There is considerable guessing about the Russian reinforcements now on French soil as to just how they got there, how many they are and whether more are coming. In lieu of official statement the supposition is that they came out of Archangel on the White Sea, around the Scandinavian Peninsula and down the North Atlantic to the Mediterranean. First report put them at 150,000. Later report today cut this figure so heavily that one estimate put it as low as 40,000. Russia has closed the port of Archangel to all but government vessels, which may mean that more troop transports are being sent or will be sent.

The Russians, described as picked men, received a great welcome from the French even than was given to the East Indian troops brought over to France by England with so much promise and so little result.

The point has been raised that, if the Russian contingent numbers only 40,000 men, it is not enough to increase appreciably the Anglo-British forces along the western front. The inference from this is that Russia sent them as much for political and sentimental effect as for fighting purposes. But whatever the reason the actual fact that Russians had sailed around to France came as a picturesque and interesting piece of news.

Every thing points to even greater efforts in France and Flanders. On the Tyres front the Germans attacked at four different points, penetrated the British trenches and captured 108 men and two British guns, according to Berlin claims. London admits the loss of two craters and a trench. The Kaiser is reported to be withdrawing large forces from Russia, Serbia and Macedonia to help the Crown Prince at Verdun and to batter the British on the Flanders front.

Trench announce gains on both sides of the Meuse. While the sending of Russian reinforcements to France attracted more attention as a sensation the steady drive of the Czar's troops through Asia Minor is more effective as real military gain. Deeply significant is an admission in the Turkish official statement that the Russian force in the Trebizond region is "gradually getting the upper hand."

likewise progressed. We effected the delivery of some wounded French prisoners and captured twenty German. The night passed quietly on the rest of the front except in the region of the Trebizond, where our artillery was rather active.

What! A sensible cigarette? Yes—you can prove it!

BRITISH RELIEF AND TURKS CLASH

London, April 21.—The increasing severity of the fighting between the Turks and British around Kut-el-Amara is disclosed in a war office communication.

The British relief force attacked the Turks in a fight that lasted two days, April 16 and 17.

On the night of the 15th the Turks made a counter attack.

It was in that latter engagement that the Turks claim to have inflicted such serious losses on the British, while the latest official statement here shows that the Turks lost heavily.

The War Office communication says: Further details of the fighting on the right bank of the Tigris on April 16-17, previous to the Turkish counter attack, show that the Turks left between 200 and 300 dead in the captured trenches and two field guns and five machine guns. Prisoners aggregating 125, including eight officers, also were taken. Our losses were comparatively small.

associated with him. The government believes it with a memorandum relating to von der Goltz's identity and the manner of his arrest in England.

FINAL CONFIRMATION.
The memorandum states that when von der Goltz was shown a check signed by Captain von Papen, the former military attaché of the German embassy at Washington, which had been seized at Baltimore, he admitted his involvement and asked to be allowed to make a voluntary statement. He was thereupon given writing materials and spent the night of January 21 in composing a statement which he afterward wrote to the government's memorandum.

Von der Goltz's statement finds detailed confirmation in the von Papen check, which he cannot have known was in the possession of the British authorities.

TEXT OF STATEMENT.
The statement of von der Goltz, as given out by the government, is in part as follows:

On August 2, 1914, I left the Mexican coast, where I had arrived at El Paso, where Consul Kink directed me to report to von Papen. After a short stay in Washington and Ashbury Park, I arrived in New York in mid-August, stopping at the Holland House.

I visited Vice-Consul Kraus, who suggested that I avoid being seen about the consulate, and he would notify me when to meet von Papen. A few days later I met von Papen. I was asked my opinion of a scheme suggested by a certain Schumacher for raiding towns on the coast of the Great Lakes with a motorboat armed with machine guns. The proposal later was rejected, owing to the embassy receiving unfavorable information about Schumacher.

I was then requested to assist in a scheme for the invasion of Canada by a force recruited from reservists in the United States, aided by German warships then in the Pacific.

HERNSTORF'S NAMED.
This scheme, which was proposed by von Papen and Ray-Kid, later was abandoned on the advice of Hernstorf.

Next, von Papen asked me to confer with two fishermen, who proposed the dynamizing of railway junctions, grain elevators and the locks of the canal connecting the Great Lakes. It was hoped thus to terrify Canada, preventing the shipment of grain and the military country.

I received the fishermen, who brought more and details of the plan. Before going to Baltimore to consult Consul Loderer regarding the scheme, I employed one man, Charles Tucker, alias Tushimura, as an assistant. I then went to Baltimore and consulted Loderer, who obtained a passport in the name of Tushimura. He also introduced me to the captain of a German ship at that time in the harbor, proposing that I make use of part of his crew and one officer.

Returning to New York I selected three men to assist me and acquainted them with part of the details of the scheme. I received a check from von Papen, which was cashed for me by Mr. Wulfford, a member of a German club.

TAUSCHER NAMED.
Regarding the material arms and dynamite needed, von Papen informed me that Captain Tauscher of Krupp's Agency had agreed to furnish them. I saw Tauscher. He gave me a letter of introduction to the Du Pont Powder Company, commanding R. H. Taylor & Co. and supplied me with an order to the man in charge of dynamite hazards lying on the New Jersey side of the Statue of Liberty.

Tauscher told me he would send pistols by messenger to Hoboken, to be delivered there to one of my agents at a certain restaurant, as he was liable to punishment if he delivered them in New York without a permit.

In order to get dynamite, it was necessary to hire a motor boat at a place near one Hundred and Forty-sixth street, Harlem, and put the dynamite aboard in suitable cases. After getting the explosives, I went by taxi with two suitcases to the German club and saw von Papen. I then delivered the dynamite to my agent, where it was kept in a room of the house parked in a small apartment.

The remainder were in the possession of two agents, one being Mr. Fritz, who discharged parcels of a Russian agent; the other, a Mr. House, a commercial agent who formerly lived in England.

SAW VON PAPER.
The only other agent I employed was J. Cavan, who attended me personally, Tucker not being entrusted with any of these things. Two or three days later I received from von Papen a supply of generators and wire which I took to my room in a taxi. A few days later we left the German Central station for Buffalo, Fritz, House and Tucker taking care of the munitions. Cavan attended me.

In Buffalo I hired rooms on Delaware avenue. I had the dynamite brought there and spent some days gathering information about the precautions taken by Canada. Then I myself and my agents went to Niagara Falls, N. Y., September 1.

While still in Buffalo I received a telegram from von Papen, signed Herfstorf, informing me that a lawyer, John Ryan, had money and interfering in the case. I determined to reconquer the dynamite where I was to act but on the 25th Ryan summoned me.

Having received private information that the first Canadian contingent had left Valparaiso, I knew I should be recalled, as the object of my enterprise was thus removed. Ryan handed me a telegram of recall.

As my family were in England I telegraphed House and Fritz to Buffalo and left the munitions in the keeping of the artist, who had now directed me to return to England.

TELEPHONE SPY SYSTEM AT CAPITAL GETS U. S. SECRETS

By International News Service.
Washington, April 21.—A system of espionage that would do credit to an absolute monarchy exists in Washington. It is maintained by several agencies, mostly representatives of foreign governments. As a result government secrets, some of them of extreme importance, have in the past few months found their way into the possession of outsiders who have tried them to entangle the United States.

This has been especially so in case of international moment. Plans for future action affecting both Europe and Mexico, have leaked out to such a manner that details it has taken months to perfect have to be abandoned at the last moment.

HE WORE THE BLUE FOR UNCLE SAM

Chas. F. Bowman of No. 351 Green St., Cambridge, Served in the Civil War

It is not alone sufficient that they shall be provided with suitable food, but it is one which must be changed to form by action of the digestive system. It provides energy for the human body. Without good digestion and assimilation there cannot be perfect health.

CHARLES F. BOWMAN.
Plant Juice, the new herbal system for curing stomach troubles, strengthens the stomach, causing the gastric juices to flow, digesting the food, acts on the liver and kidneys, eliminates acid from the blood, which is the cause of indigestion, and the sufferer is restored to health, which is the heritage of all.

Local testimonials from gratified users of Plant Juice continue to pour in, proving that this remedy is still being used in operation. One from Mr. Charles F. Bowman, who resides at No. 351 Green street, Cambridge, is especially convincing. Mr. Bowman has been and resided in Boston, and is a member of the U. S. A. R. having served in the Civil War and in the Spanish War. He stated:

"I had a distress from stomach troubles and constipation for a number of years. After eating I would find myself eating gas belching, was subjected to headache and dizzy spells. My head ached so that it would actually make me sick. I had tried a great many different medicines for my troubles, and the only medicine that I ever found to give me any relief was Plant Juice. It has given me a good appetite and I can eat what I want to eat and sleep fine. I certainly recommend Plant Juice to anyone who is distressed to take, and I find it does all you claim for it."

The Plant Juice man is at the drug department of the Houghton & Eaton Co. store, where he is ready to meet the needs of all who are troubled with indigestion, constipation, or other ailments of the stomach.

Not a Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Water

Says a glass of hot water and phosphate prevents illness and keeps us fit.

Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of combustible material in the form of ash, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal a certain amount of combustible material, which, if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which enter the bowels. From this mass of leftover waste, toxins and poisons, the bacteria produce acids which are absorbed into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside baths. Before eating breakfast each morning drink a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of phosphate in it to wash out of the thirty feet of bowels the previous day's accumulation of poisons and toxins and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh.

Those who are subject to colds, headaches, colds, lumbago, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound of phosphate from the drug store and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject.

Remember, inside bathing is more important than outside bathing, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing poor health, while the bowel pores do. Just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water with phosphate phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. —Advertisement.

Look for Clear Easter, But Cool, Says Forecaster

Washington, April 21.—Clear and cool weather will prevail throughout most of the United States on Easter Sunday, Professor Bowie, weather forecaster, announced today. The prospects are bad for the interior of New England, northern New York and the Great Lakes States, for a heavy rain, and lowerable temperatures are predicted. Rain over certain sections of the middle Atlantic States in the morning will be followed by clear weather. Temperatures ranging between 35 and 45 in the weather man's guess for the middle western States.

A REMARKABLE TREE

The Fluid Distilled From It Heals and Soothes the Skin

Along the shores of the Mediterranean Sea, in many localities and in waste places, grows a small, common, prickly cedar tree (see picture) that is called the "Tree of Life".

peasants of Spain, France, and Northern Africa have used this fluid to cure skin diseases both of man and of sheep, horses and other domestic animals. In more recent times this fluid has been given the name of "Oil of Life" and the Medical Profession throughout the world employed it in treating eczema and many other skin troubles. It possesses remarkable healing, soothing and curative properties, when applied to the skin, and is said to have been recommended by Nature in the following purpose. Oil of Life combined with other beneficial drugs is used in making Calum Ointment, the new skin remedy. It shows nothing as soon as applied and keeps the healing process immediately. Pruritus, the itchiness that comes from the remarkable tree is the very thing which you require to be made known and well. If you have eczema, or eczema, or irritations of any kind, get a box of Calum Ointment, have your doctor prescribe it, and you will see the Ointment Calum Ointment, New York.

SEE WHAT CUTICURA

DOES FOR MY HAIR AND SKIN

The Soap keeps the skin fresh and clear and keeps the hair from falling out. It is the most useful and healthy skin medicine. Sample Each Free by Mail. With 25c. Anti-Rash or Acne. At Druggists, Grocers, or by Mail.

Hair Often Ruined By Washing With Soap. Soap should be used very carefully. If you want to keep your hair looking its best, don't use soap and prepared shampoo. It contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mild soap and water (which is pure and generous), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply massage the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get malodorous odor off at any place. It's very cheap and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

ELOPERS FOUND TO BE STARVING

By International News Service. New York, April 21.—It is not always true that when bills come in the door, love dies out of the window. Philip Muller and Ella Lee, each seventy, divorced the other, although it took the police and the Children's Society to separate them, although they were starving.

They eloped from Schenectady on April 7. Philip had saved $15, and with this slender capital, he came to New York to get married. Philip was going to get work and make a fortune. The world looked on with interest at the story of the elopement.

The boy and girl took a room at No. 242 Fifth Avenue street. Philip sought work so he could earn money enough to get on. He did not find it. The boy and girl were slowly starving to death. They were too proud to appeal to anyone. Their landlady told the Children's Society.

In Yorkville Court the two went as they protested that they loved each other and could get along somehow if they were set free. Ella was taken to the society's room, where she would be cared for.

The boy was held on a charge of abduction for entering the examination. If the parents consent the children will be married. The boy will be made to get work for Philip.

BOSTON GIRLS IN WAR

A clear and thrilling relation of the experiences of our young women nurses at the front, told by one of them.

Dorothy Arnold's End

Has the long search for the lost girl, believed held for a huge ransom, or slain for gold, been concluded on clues furnished by a convict? Some unwritten chapters of this great mystery revealed.

Grace in Girls

A revival of the charm of the minut days of our grandmothers all brought about by a clever little Cambridge girl. If you live in Cambridge your child's picture may accompany this.

Sherlock Holmes in Politics

Being a correct account of the ideas and desires of a Somerville detective captain who is convinced that the city needs him as a mayor.

At Mrs. Gardner's

Some very new photos of surpassing interest just taken in Mrs. John L. Gardner's palace in the Fenway.

Why Did She Steal?

A scientific study of the kleptomania of a girl who had neither need nor want. Providence, in fact all of Rhode Island, Northampton, in fact all of Western Massachusetts, in fact everybody everywhere will be interested in this story.

And the Wherefore

All of these interesting stories will be found in next Sunday's Boston American. Your newsdealer will take your order now. Remember, NOW.

Fatigue— The Danger Signal

The wearing down of leather heels within two weeks shows the impact of your hard heel on concrete pavements. The shock of every step is a big factor in producing fatigue.

Have you reached the point where your strength is fast to uttermost fatigue?

You could walk all day on the soft, green turf of a golf course—but a short walk on city pavements utterly exhausts you.

Change concrete pavements to cushioned paths. Replace your nail studded leather heels with heels of new, live rubber.

Is the slightest act an effort?

Do you feel cross and irritable at night?

Do you worry over petty troubles?

THESE are the Danger Signals of Fatigue. When we reach the limit of our mental and physical endurance—when overwork of brain or body starts its drain upon our nervous energy—Nature never fails to flash the danger signals of Fatigue.

How fatigue grips you

Fatigue Poisons work gradually—subtly. If each day you are using up more than your normal amount of surplus energy—you are slowly drawing more and more heavily on your health capital, and diminishing your powers of efficiency. That "tired feeling" creeps over you a little earlier each day till finally your night's sleep is no longer sufficient to refresh you—to restore your wasted health vitality.

How can you tell when you are nearing the limit of your natural energy? You must look out for the danger signals sent out by Nature—loss of appetite, insomnia, increasing exhaustion from day to day without increase in the amount of work done, mental depression, lack of interest and initiative. No one can afford to disregard these danger signals.

"Plus Health"

"The spirit of the times" says Doctor Anna M. Galbraith, former Physician and Instructor at the New York Woman's Medical College, "demands nothing less than the most perfect development of body and mind, and maintaining the highest degree of efficiency of the adult worker for the longest possible term of years."

A surplus of energy must be persistently aimed at—what Harrington Emerson, the well known Efficiency Engineer calls "plus health." No fatigued woman can be at her best; she is doomed to inferior work, and to be mentally depressed.

Conserve your energy

Economize your energy wherever you can. Make every activity build up your vitality instead of wearing it down.

Your shopping, your housework, or your daily walk need not exhaust you. They should use up only a normal amount of your surplus energy. It is the added strain on your nerves, the shock and jar of every step you take on concrete pavements and hardwood floors that wastes your strength, and leaves you tired out.

You could walk all day on the soft, green turf of a golf course and feel only the wholesome "tiredness" that comes from a day in the open air—but a short walk on city pavements utterly exhausts you.

Change concrete pavements to cushioned paths

Save your nervous system from the useless shock and strain of hard heeled shoes on concrete pavements. Replace your nail studded leather heels with heels of new, live rubber—city streets and hardwood floors will feel like cushioned walks.

O'Sullivan's Heels of new, live rubber absorb the shocks that now wear you out. They give you the quiet, elastic step and easy swing of youth—a feeling of increased energy and "life."

Get a pair of O'Sullivan's Heels today. Notice the difference they make.

O'Sullivan's Heels are one of the most important modern devices for making life quieter, smoother, happier.

In black, white and tan; for men, women and children, 50 cents attached. Be sure you get O'Sullivan's and avoid the disappointment of substitutes.

Most good shoe dealers now sell latest styles already O'Sullivanized.

KELLY POOL--Whose Turn to Buy? By BRIGGS

"Tux" is the genial smoke! There's vim and punch and get-there energy in every fragrant puff. Get the bustling, hustling spirit of "Tux" into your system and it'll give you an outlook on life fresh as a morning glory at 5 a. m.

Tuxedo
The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

ROBERT T. HOUGH
Former Editor of Boston Herald
"When a man finds the right tobacco, a pipe becomes his trusted counselor and friend. I have found the right tobacco in Tuxedo. Its mellowness, fragrance and mildness afford perfect enjoyment."

A whole lot of men at one time or another have tried to smoke tobacco. Result—a hot tongue and "cold feet." Try again with Tuxedo has made thousands of happy, contented pipe-smokers because it's so wonderfully mild and cannot burn, bite or blister the tongue or irritate the throat.

The rich, sun-ripened leaf for Tuxedo is aged 3 to 5 years. Then it's treated by the original "Tuxedo Process"—a doctor's discovery—which removes every particle of bite. There are many so-called processes—all are imitations of the "Tuxedo Process"—none has ever even approached the "Tuxedo Process" in making tobacco leaf mild and wholesome.

Try Tuxedo for a week and learn what it means to love your pipe.

Howard Estabrook, as
Dr. Payson Alden, in
"The Mysteries of Myra"

"the doors were locked, but" —

When he took up the fight, Payson Alden knew to the bottom of his soul the silent cunning and subtle power of his opponents.

He knew of their command of unknown forces—their mastery of a hidden science turned to evil uses.

He knew that, standing far back in the shadows, they were weaving, for their own ends, a web of destruction around Myra Maynard. But, with all his clear-eyed courage, he was amazed when he awoke and found a note lying on his breast—a note that came through barred doors and stone walls.

The Mysteries of Myra

A new and wonderful film drama
founded on psychic phenomena

Men will die for love—and for love Payson Alden risked his life in a death grapple with an enemy who fought in the dark and who used as weapons the tremendous and unseen forces that throb beneath the current of life.

Payson Alden, Psychic Detective

He met them on their own ground. He became an adept in psychic power—in spiritualism—in thought transference—in hypnotism—in levitation—in all the marvelous occult knowledge that comes from the distant past.

And out of this grew slowly his psychic laboratory, a place as modern as a steel mill and as full of enchantment as the Arabian Nights.

It is the newest new thing in motion pictures. Nothing like it has ever before been shown on a screen.

It is unforgettable in its novelty, in its wealth of strange and curious knowledge pictured for the first time in the world's history, and for the beauty and charm of the love story that runs through it like a golden thread.

The man who originated those wonderful film dramas—"The Perils of Pauline" and "The "Exploits of Elaine"—Charles W. Goddard—has written "The Mysteries of Myra."

His associate in the production of the series is Hereward Carrington, celebrated as an expert in psychic phenomena.

The drama has been produced under the direction of Theodore and Leo Wharton, the most famous directors of motion picture plays in the world.

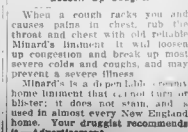

Don't fail to see "The Mysteries of Myra," and be sure to start with the first episode.

Did You Ever Ask Yourself Why Christ Was Crucified?

Some Trust Owners Who Think They Worship
Him Might Be Surprised by the Facts

Copyright, 1916, by The World Editor

FIRST, remember that Christ was crucified by the Romans, not by Jews. The Jews never practiced crucifixion. It was the regular punishment of the Romans. It came to them perhaps from Asia, through Greece.

When Babylon was captured for the second time, by Darius, he celebrated his victory by crucifying three thousand of the leading citizens. Shortly after he conquered Pharoahs, king of Media, and ordered written on the "Delistum rock" thus:

"Pharoahs was taken and brought before me. I cut off his nose and ears and his lips. He was held chained at my door; all the kingdom beheld him. Afterward, at Ecbatana, there I had him crucified."

Such brutalities were not Jewish.

It was not at the request of the Jews that Christ was put to death.

There was a Jewish holiday, and it was the custom for the Roman ruling in Jerusalem to set free some condemned prisoner in order to please the people.

Pontius Pilate asked the mob whether they would prefer to have him free Christ or Bar-Abbas, who in our day would be reckoned an anarchist agitator.

The mob called for the freedom of Bar-Abbas, and the Roman law dealt with Christ by crucifying him.

Christ was crucified by the Romans simply and solely because His teaching and preaching disturbed the rich, the prosperous and those in office.

He was crucified because He said that all men were brothers—being thus guilty of the great crime of preaching EQUALITY.

To say that all men were brothers, HIS brothers and the brothers of each other, was to say that all men were EQUAL. And that was a crime then in the eyes of the law, as it is a crime now in the eyes of special privilege.

Christ was crucified because He denounced the egotism, the meanness and the cruelty of the rich, because He consorted with the poor, encouraged them, and told them that their day would come.

He protected the children, spoke for them, denounced those that dared to injure them. That was considered criminal then, and it would be privately considered criminal by many TODAY in our age of child labor.

Christ was denounced and put to death because He told the rich young man who asked Him what he should do that, first of all, he must take what he had and give it to the poor, not selfishly keep for himself that which he did not need.

That was considered a CRIME in those days. By many of Christianity's most prosperous worshippers today it would be considered worse than a crime, namely, infidelity.

Many men who declare themselves followers of Christianity now would have their intelligent corporation lawyers pursuing the founder of Christianity if He were here preaching today.

The simplest plan would be to have Him committed "as a vagrant." If He were disturbing the peaceful sleep of the very prosperous today, as He did nineteen hundred years ago, it would not be difficult to find a judge who would order Him locked up because of this statement that He had no place to sleep.

"The foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have nests; but the Son of man hath not where to lay his head."

—St. Matthew, xiii, 29.

His character as an agitator and His effort to break down rank and responsibility would be satisfactorily proved by this statement:

"And he looked round about on them which sat about Him, and said, Behold my mother and my brethren!"

"For whosoever shall do the will of God, the same is my brother, and my sister, and mother."—St. Mark, iii, 34-35.

The founder of Christianity was guilty of that gravest of modern crimes against eminent respectability. He even criticized the judges. And while He recommended obedience, He pointed out judicial injustice most convincingly. There is very little doubt that He would go so far as to favor the recall of judges if He were here. Said He:

"The Scribes and Pharisees sit in Moses seat."

"All therefore whatsoever they bid you observe, that observe and do; but do not ye after their works; for they say, and do not."

"For they bind heavy burdens and grievous to be borne, and lay them on men's shoulders; but they themselves will not move them with one of their fingers."—St. Matthew, xxiii, 2, 3, 4.

Today the prosperous gentlemen of the United States are observing Good Friday with all due humility. They are saying what a shameful thing it was to put Christ to death.

They will not have the slightest idea WHY He was crucified. Or, if they know, they will politely ignore the fact that if He were alive today, and armed with real power and INFLUENCE ON THE MASSES, as He preached nineteen hundred years ago, the cleverest corporation lawyers, lacking crucifixion, which has gone out of fashion, would be hired to put Him in jail and suppress Him.

Some Common Mistakes About Food Values

By Woods Hutchinson, M. D.

The World's Best Known Writer on Medical Subjects

"MAN cannot live by bread alone," still less by carbohydrates and cornmeal.

Even the walls of life can make only the walls of life's sandwich and must be spread with butter, filled with meat and well loaded with jam, to make the sacred balanced ration.

The four-year-old who excited and expanded the lines of his evening gown—'Alas, as this day our daily bread—'an plenty, lay butter on it'—brought his theology strictly up to date. 'Bread and—' something else comes as naturally to our tongue as the familiar 'Ham and—' of the short-primer literature.

We are fond of boasting and gloriously that we have rationalized our ideas of diet and put food problems upon a purely scientific basis, with accuracy and precision in place of superstition and rule of thumb. This is as it should be and a great improvement over our hit-or-miss methods in the days of ignorance. But every new religion opened up offers to fresh chances of losing our way, and each advance of knowledge brings with it new possibilities of mistakes.

Cheapest Form of Food

Ever since we realized that the human body was an engine, driven by the fuel absorbed into its stomach—fuel in the form of food, we have been due simply to early training at the home table, tradition or convenience. Is there anything else which is just as good for keeping up a proper head of steam and much less expensive than those old standbys and favorites?

At the first blush it looked as if this question would be very promptly and confidently answered in the affirmative. Foods are fuels, fuels are estimated by the number of heat units or calories they contain per pound. Here are many perfectly good foods, such as cornmeal, potatoes, rice, barley, macaroni, which contain just as many calories per pound as do wheat, beef, mutton, eggs and sugar, and are even so much cheaper.

Measured by Calories

It may be explained incidentally that a calorie, though it sounds rather appalling, is simply the amount of heat which will raise one quart of water one degree in temperature, and has been adopted simply as a convenient unit of measurement in foods. If it is further remembered that an average "meat" food, such as bread, meat, cake, or sugar, contains about 1,000 calories per pound, and that three such pounds, or 3,000 calories, are required for a day's working ration, 1,000 calories, or one pound of solid food, at each meal, it will be seen how simple the calories method of estimating and comparing foods really is.

Not a few of our earlier food reformers, carried away by the enthusiasm of new knowledge, began constructing and eagerly selling scientific and economical dietaries with cornmeal and potatoes in the place of bread, beans, milk and cheese instead of meat, all for butter, and milk and vegetables in place of eggs, fish and oysters. These, they assured us, would cut down our food bills nearly one-half and at the same time remove all temptation to over-eat, and deliver us from gout, rheumatism, dyspepsia, apoplexy, liver and kidney diseases.

Don't Fill the Bill

The reformers make good on their own specification without difficulty, for the denaturalized and stupefied masses, which they constructed and sold, have been due simply to early training at the home table, tradition or convenience. Is there anything else which is just as good for keeping up a proper head of steam and much less expensive than those old standbys and favorites?

At the first blush it looked as if this question would be very promptly and confidently answered in the affirmative. Foods are fuels, fuels are estimated by the number of heat units or calories they contain per pound. Here are many perfectly

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

Fame

WHEN Shakespeare first put on his plays, though cultivated critics panned 'em, they instantly became the craze.

For common folks could understand 'em. This sorely troubled honest Bill; He tore his hair in perturbation; He knew that his success would kill his literary reputation.

"My work," said he, "will be forgotten; They like it, so it must be rotten."

He sought to mould his style anew, To please the disapproving highbrows. He tried to create heroes who Poetry emotions with their eyebrows. But that, he found, was not his gait.

He couldn't cure a life-long habit; Each time he tried, as sure as fate, He'd get some rough-house in and crab it. And as his plays remained the sad He still was sure that they were bad.

At last he quit the drama flat, He'd lost his reputation on the spot. And gave it out that after that He'd work on nothing but the sonnet.

Each day he turned a dove out, And they attracted wide attention, But what the things were all about Was past the public's comprehension.

No every one pronounced them clever, And Shakespeare's fame endures forever.

Fathers and Daughters

Girls Should Be Taught Strength and Courage by Their Fathers, Just as Boys Are Taught Gentleness and Forbearance by Their Mothers

By Dorothy Dix

WE hear a great deal about the ennobling influence of a mother over her son, and the part that she plays in forming his character.

Nobody ever says a word about the influence of a father over his daughter, or the part that he plays in forming her character, yet the one influence is quite as potent as the other, and its effect just as unmistakable.

If every great man has had a great mother, it is equally sure that every great woman has had a great father. If from a man's manners, and morals, and outlook on life, you can tell what sort of a mother he has had, from the breadth of a woman's horizon, you can determine without fail whether she had a real father, or a cash register parent.

When you find a really sane woman, a well-balanced, common-sense sort of a woman; a broad and tolerant woman; a woman who has the ability to do and the courage to dare; a woman who knows the true values in life, almost nine times out of a hundred you will discover that she was brought up on her father's knee, and was chums with him.

It is the father who has taught the little girl to stand on her own feet instead of flopping like a wet dishrag over any support that is handy. It is father who has taught her to play the game of life squarely, and to take her winnings one by one, like a dead game sport. It is father who has taught her to respect other people's rights, and opinions, and prejudices. It is father who has taught her to put the soft pedal on her emotions, and substitute her brains for her feelings.

Whenever you meet up with a woman who is distinguished for her sweet reasonableness, who keeps her head when other women lose theirs, and who can always be depended upon in any emergency, it is perfectly safe to say to her, "You were great friends with your father, weren't you?" And one will invariably answer, "It was my great privilege to be my father's pal."

This being the case, and the average man considers that his entire duty to his girls consists in feeding and clothing them. He feels that his obligation is to their bodies and not to their souls, and that if he dresses them up in enough finery he has done all that could be expected of him.

He leaves their mental and their moral training to their mother. This gives them an overdose of femininity, which is precisely what they do not need. What they need is to have their feminine faults corrected by masculine influence, just as a boy needs to have his masculine faults corrected by feminine influence. In a word, the father should teach the girl strength and courage, just as the mother teaches the boy gentleness and forbearance.
